COMMUNITY AND P.T.A.

The members of the P.T.A. listen attentively as the plans for the new additions to the school are explained.

In the year 1755 Major General Edward Braddock of the King's Army, set out from Alexandria, Virginia to capture Fort Duquesne from the French. At that time there was no road to Winchester so he and his troops began to cut a trail through the wilderness. They got as far as Centreville (originally Newgate) but heavy spring rains prevented further progress so he abandoned the project in preference to a more northerly and suitable route. Today, that same road which General Braddock attempted to build 212 years ago, is the present location of Thomas Jefferson High School.

Founded in 1964, Thomas Jefferson is situated in a most unusual and complex community. Transient in nature, most of the families are here only on federal or military assignments. More than half are not Virginia or Fairfax County residents. Parental occupations encompass a wide scope, varying from jobs with the State Department to military careers, from pilots to engineers. Traveling with their parents, our students have had the chance to experience the flavor and excitement of far off places. Considered among the most interesting and enjoyable are: Hawaii, Argentina, Vietnam, Japan, Panama, Italy, Luxembourg, and Mexico. Academically, Jefferson students are among the top. Approximately 75 per cent of the graduating class is estimated to be college bound.

This year the P.T.A. has had six major programs for the benefit of the students and faculty at Jefferson. They included assisting the library in obtaining books, furnishing the clinic with laundry and supplies, sponsoring an informal dance for the seniors on Class Night, securing educational films on driving and drinking, providing for a partial landscaping of the school grounds, and donating to the A.F.S. fund for next year's exchange student.

We of the Jeffersonian would like to express our thanks to the P.T.A. and community for their tireless efforts and creativity, for without their help our progress would never have reached its present level.

(contributed by Jean Wilkerson)

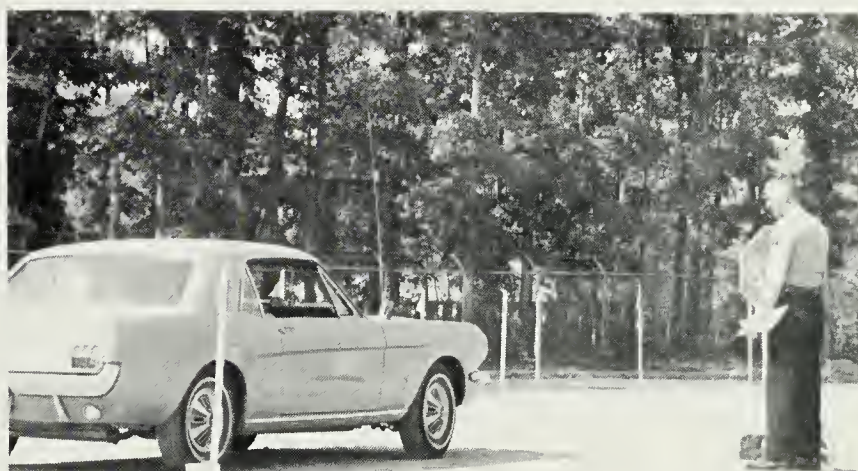

Mr. Barrett's helping hand was greatly appreciated during the magazine drive.

Landmark Shopping Center, former Carnival ground, created traffic jams and a meeting place for TJ students.

Due to the increase of population, Jefferson was forced to extend its classroom facilities in the form of a new wing including a girls' gym, science lab, language lab, and planetarium.

To the Graduating Class of 1967

I am pleased to have this opportunity to offer my congratulations to you, the second class to graduate from Thomas Jefferson High School. Most of you have been here for three years, and certainly you have made a large contribution to the establishment and development of our school.

As I stated to the Class of 1966, I am glad that such a large percentage of you will be furthering your education in one way or another. Our way of life continues to develop and advance in knowledge and technology, and those with the best education will have the greatest opportunity for choosing their place in our society.

Those of you who will not continue your formal education will also be able to lead happy, successful lives because there are so many kinds of jobs available for those who are willing to engage in hard work.

Your teachers and I have endeavored to provide you with the best possible high school education, and we hope that you feel prepared to face the challenge that awaits you. As you leave Jefferson, our best wishes go with you, and we hope that you will visit us when you can and keep us informed of your progress. We stand ready to assist you in any way possible whenever you need to call upon us.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

What would we have done without our Assistant Principal for Instruction, Mr. Bernard? Without him classes would have found themselves without substitutes, stray books would never have found their owners, students would lack equipment, and field trips would degenerate into confusion. Many students are not aware of the planning that must go into complicated scheduling and ordering of equipment. But with Mr. Bernard problems rarely existed. His aims are to develop a program of study to meet the needs of every student and to introduce new methods and ideas to teaching.

PETER VISNICH

Because of Mr. Barrett's retirement last year, Mr. Visnich's duties and responsibilities were re-organized. As Jefferson's new Assistant Principal for Administration his job deals with attendance records and coaxing stubborn lockers in addition to controlling our rambunctious masses in the halls, in their classes, and at lunch. Those who chose to ignore the warnings from their teachers found themselves on the right track again after speaking to Mr. Visnich. Even though our SCA president read the morning announcements this year, Mr. Visnich and his radio were still familiar sights when the busses arrived. Despite the fact that his job includes the disciplining of students, Mr. Visnich is still one of the most popular and admired administrators at Jefferson.

LIBRARY

The library this year passed the 10,000 volume mark and continued to enjoy a brisk circulation. One of the first facilities in the school to open in the morning and usually the last to close in the afternoon, the library is in constant use all day.

The aims of the staff are to make a friendly and attractive place to do research and recreational reading. The library is available at all times to fulfill the needs and requests of each department with a well-rounded collection of basic reference and subject material and a wide variety of fiction.

The efficiency of its operations and its value to the overall purposes of the school are due in large measure to a staff of dedicated, hard-working student assistants.

GUIDANCE

Do I have to take another year of P.E.? How can I fit typing into my schedule? Is there a college somewhere that will take me? These were but a few of the questions typically directed to the guidance department.

Mr. Grindle, sophomore counselor, and Miss Rawley, freshman counselor, concentrated on orienting underclassmen. Working individually with the students, they enabled them to facilitate their academic success and recognize their strengths and limitations.

The senior and junior counselors, Dr. Ash, Mr. Coggin, and Mrs. Hammond, spent endless hours helping students gain the greatest benefit from their last two years in high school. Vocational opportunities and educational goals were explored with each future graduate.

The department's extensive program of testing included the administration of SCAT, STEP, National Merit Scholarship Tests, PSAT, and College Boards. Stocking the reading room with every imaginable college catalogue, career handbook, and scholarship information was another service the guidance department offered.

ENGLISH

Every Monday afternoon the library was reserved for faculty meetings.

From Greek mythology and Great Expectations, to Silas Marner and "Julius Caesar", through Moby Dick and the Scarlet Letter, terminating with "Macbeth" and Tom Jones, the English Department devoted itself toward presenting an interesting and stimulating curriculum to Jefferson students.

At the senior level, the Advanced Placement course was again offered to those seniors whose previous record showed their potential for understanding and appreciation. American Civilization, which correlated English and History, was offered to interested juniors. Sophomores were given the chance of enriching their experience in the form of a World Civilization class, initiated this year.

Making use of the cultural atmosphere of Washington, D. C., the seniors ventured a field trip to the Arena Stage to see a production of "Macbeth".

During the course of the year, a bookstore was operated in conjunction with the Keyettes, in order to provide those books required by the students for their classes.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The Department of Foreign Languages provided an opportunity for students to broaden their outlook on the world. By studying the habits and ideas of various peoples, past and present, our students learned to understand their own life patterns.

A talented teaching staff, well qualified to interpret "foreign" matters, trained the pupils in the fourfold skills of language study: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The language lab, an electronic classroom, provided an excellent additional practice facility.

In addition to French, German, Latin, and Spanish, Russian I was initiated into the curriculum at the beginning of the '66-67 school year. Although these languages are presented as purely elective courses of a highly academic nature, all students prepared to enjoy learning foreign language skills are encouraged to participate. In addition to the classroom study, foreign clubs and National Foreign Language Honor Societies were available for extracurricular enjoyment.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Realizing the challenges of the world's societies on the future inheritors of their problems, the Social Studies Department acquainted Jefferson's students with these obstacles. In addition to the standard courses of geography, U. S. history, world history, government, and economics, the department initiated two new courses in formerly neglected areas.

With the promise of becoming more important in the future, the Far East and Latin America were regions carefully studied and analyzed in a new course. Until recently, social and intellectual history has not been considered alongside political and economic history. The American Civilization and World Civilization courses emphasized the transitions, not only through text books, but also with various field trips, movies, lectures, and projects.

MATHEMATICS

The offerings and activities in Mathematics remained unchanged from the description in the 1966 JEFFERSONIAN except for the addition of a course in Consumer Mathematics, and the planned entry of a team from Thomas Jefferson in the Fairfax County inter-high math league. Monthly competition started in November.

The Consumer Mathematics course teaches practical applications in areas such as insurance planning, tax returns, banking and investment, accounting, and the like. It has special value for students planning to go immediately into part-or full-time employment after graduation from secondary school.

Quality of mathematics teaching at Jefferson was strengthened by the return of all our classroom teachers who were on the faculty at the end of the 1965-1966 school year. In addition, the increased enrollment at Jefferson was reflected in an increase of the mathematics staff by one and three-fifths teachers, one teaching five math classes daily, and one teaching three math classes plus two courses in another subject area.

SCIENCE

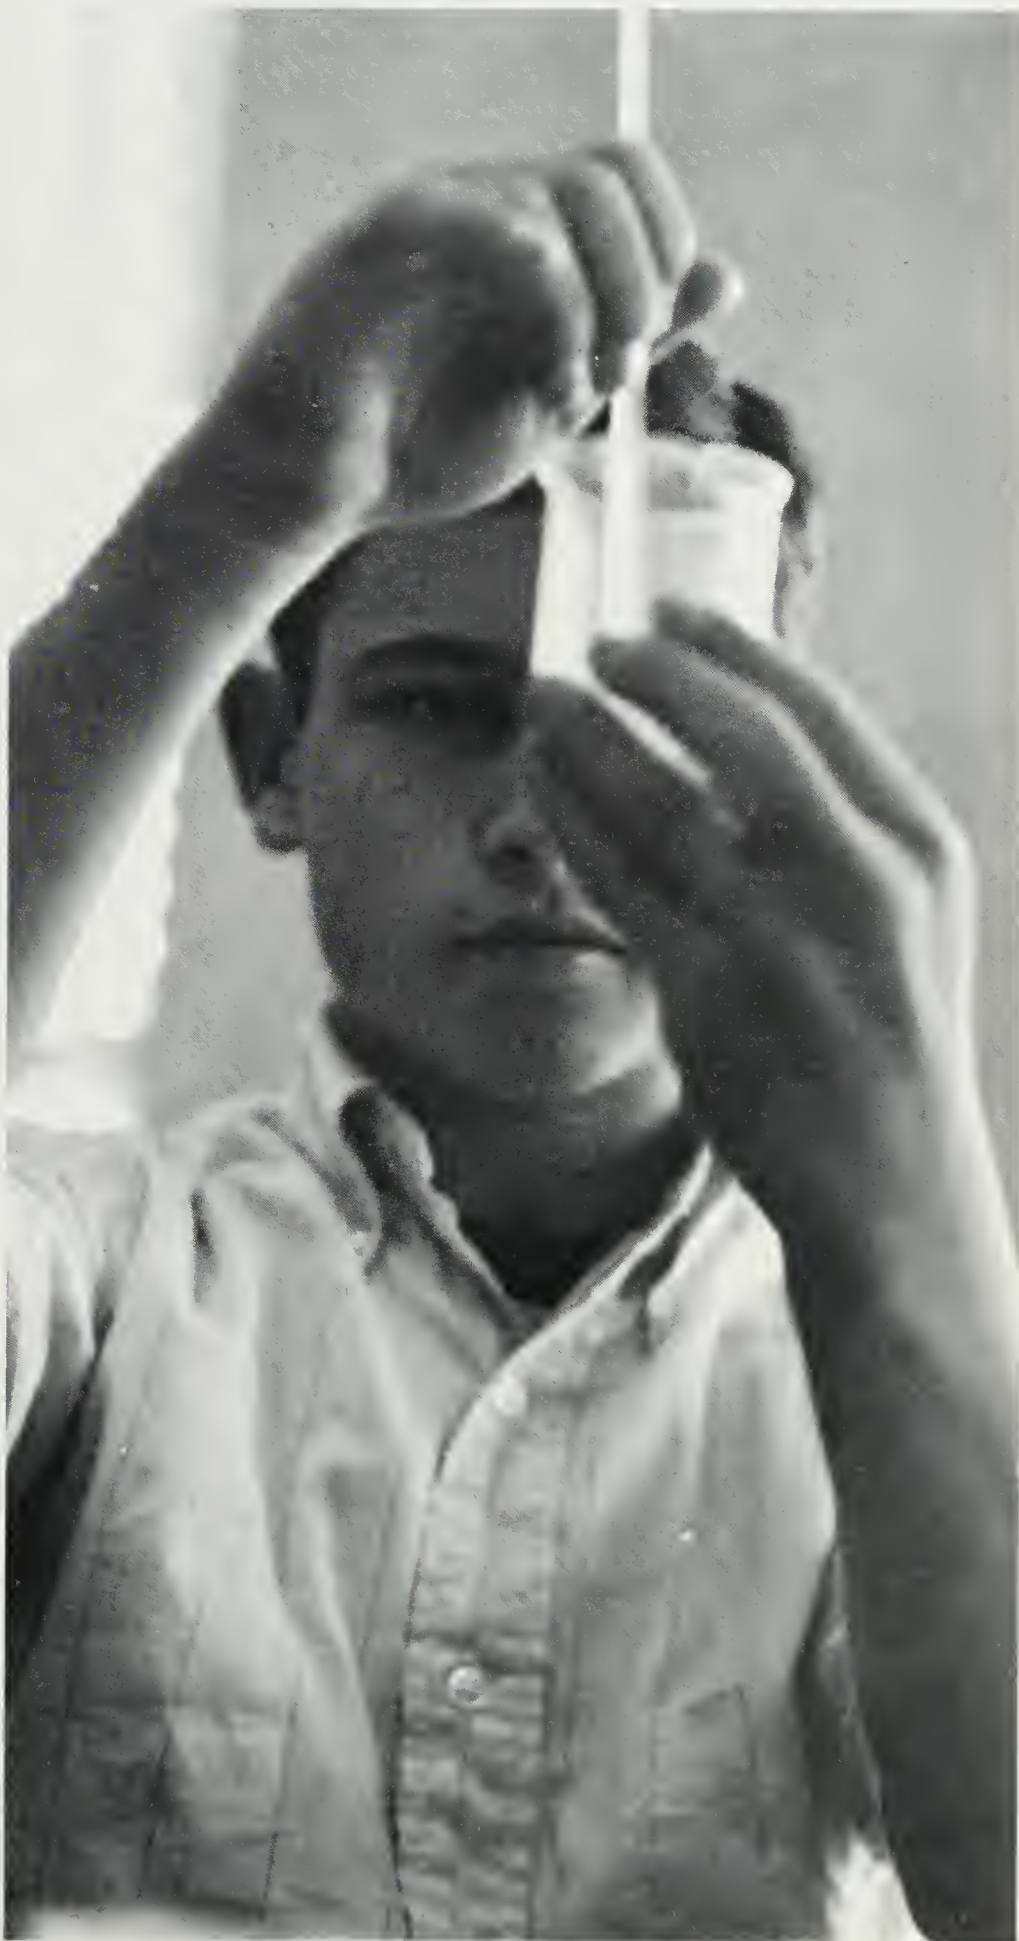

If our parents would compare Jefferson's science classes with those of their youth, they would find many surprising changes. While training the future chemists, physicists, and biologists, the Science Department de-emphasized memorization of facts and concentrated on learning from observation and experimentation. Offered a diversified program, each scientist of tomorrow found a course closely related to his interests.

A small group of students experimented with the newly formed Biology II course, written by two teachers from Fairfax County.

Their discussions and lectures stimulated interest in individual research projects which they entered in a science fair.

Several interested seniors explored advanced topics in PSSC Physics. Earth Science classes took advantage of Woodson High School's planetarium while Biology students found plant and animal life to examine on the property adjoining Jefferson. Chemists concentrated on bonding, ionization, and crystallization in the laboratory.

In cooperation with Fairfax County and the Smithsonian Institute, Mr. Colson, Mr. Mumpower, Mr. Bado, Mr. Howe, and several students created and tested teaching machines to examine the possibility of instructing elementary students in physics.

MUSIC

Jefferson's Music Department offered instruction in various areas of study and performance, to musically inclined students.

The Symphonic Band highlighted half-time festivities, performed in concerts and represented Jefferson in parades and music festivals. By combining in concert with Ft. Hunt High School and making an exchange trip, the band enriched musical knowledge and appreciation. The Winchester Apple Blossom Parade, the District Band Festival, and the Spring Concert were additional projects accomplished by the band.

Through different types of choirs, the singer was offered training to fit his varying musical needs. The unskilled vocalist could find a challenge but was not pushed beyond his ability. The Madrigals, the more experienced performers, had an opportunity to develop their talents.

In a combined effort, the choral section of the Music Department joined the Symphonic Band for a Christmas Concert.

ART

The scholastic excellence of Jefferson High School extends into the field of art. This is the only school in Virginia which teaches beginning students the basic design theory of the famous Bauhaus School of Design of Germany. This technique paved the way for contemporary design in fine and practical art.

Jefferson's advanced art students have the added distinction of being the only ones in Fairfax County to study wood carving as a required part of their curriculum. Art III and Art IV students explored the possibilities of acrylic and oil paints as a follow-up medium from training with egg tempera. Students also learned to mix their own paints as a part of the course.

Examples of their creative efforts were displayed on the many bulletin boards of Jefferson's hallways.

John Maitland profits from on-the-job training.

Vocational Office Training and Distributive Education programs are a part of the Business Education that is cooperative in nature. These programs represent the coordination of classroom study and on-the-job training, each complementing the other. In these programs, the students have their schedules arranged so that they attend classes held at school and are employed in an office or store during the remaining part of the day. The office experience is considered as an extension of the instruction which they receive in the classroom.

Seventeen students are presently enrolled in V.O.T., and this year's D.E. program has tripled in size.

The areas of D.E. include: personnel selling, sales promotion, product information, merchandising, and other related fields, while V.O.T. provides a means for acquiring practical training and orientation for a variety of office jobs. These programs make it possible to combine a regular high school course with good preparation for work. In addition to exploring office occupations before graduation, D.E. and V.O.T. teach valuable lessons in personal behavior and social relations.

HOME ECONOMICS

Sewing machines buzzing, delicious food odors flowing into the halls, plans for projects and activities being formulated, these constitute our Home Economics Department at its busiest time. This year the department added three new classes and Mrs. Stroud, a new part time teacher.

As a demonstration of the progress achieved during the year, the girls proudly displayed gifts, decorations, and food for the holiday season at their Holiday Bazaar. In May all of the girls demonstrated their craftsmanship and modeling ability in a style show for their parents and friends. Throughout the year their services were contributed at the various school dinners. Concentrating on the theme of "Homemakers of Tomorrow" the home economics students worked on many beneficial projects this year.

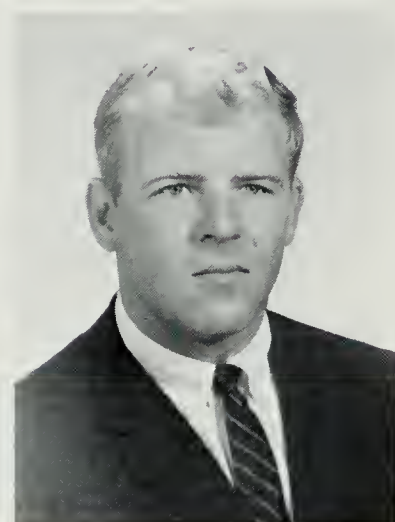

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

After the required safety goggles finally arrived, Jefferson's industrial arts students were equipped to begin work. Their projects ranged from simple sanding and building charts of block letters to analyzing electronic data and complicated overhauling of two- and four-cycle motors.

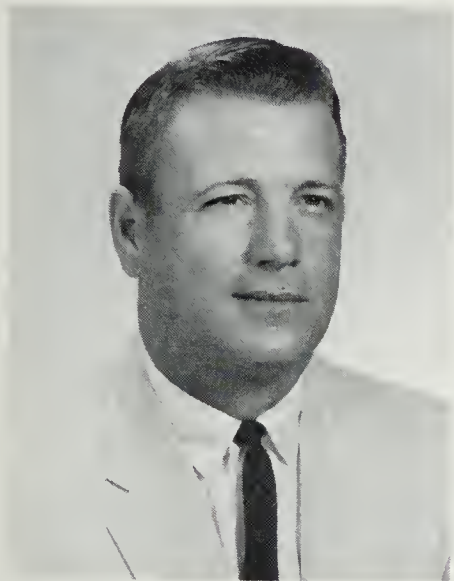

In general shop, young men and a few young women delved into wood, metal, and plastic construction in addition to the intricacies of mechanics. Junior draftsmen, above the Mechanical Drawing I stage, worked either with industrial or architectural style of drafting. Those studying architectural drawing devoted their talents toward designing and modeling a dream house. The Industrial Arts Department encouraged boys to become creative with their minds and hands, thus providing them with a basically well-rounded education.

HEALTH and PHYSICAL EDUCATION

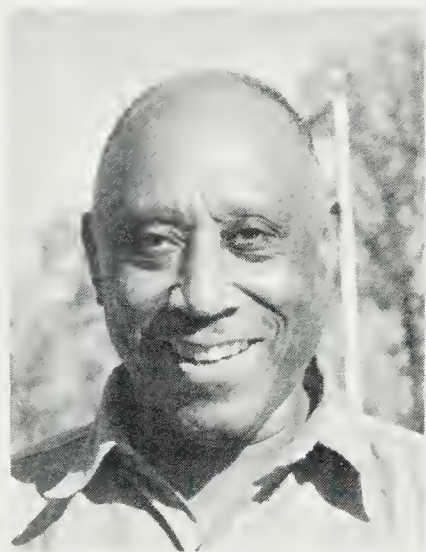

Sore, stiff, aching muscles, were prevalent after the first physical fitness tests. The required freshman and sophomore P.E. classes concentrated on group sports and developing the ability to work as a team, while the junior and senior classes emphasized individual skills. On alternate weeks, driving instruction and first aid courses were offered to freshmen. The sophomores studied health with the emphasis placed on the development of personality.

Along with the full classroom schedule, the Physical Education Department coached the interscholastic sports program, and sponsored a complete intramural program.

FACULTY CANDIDS

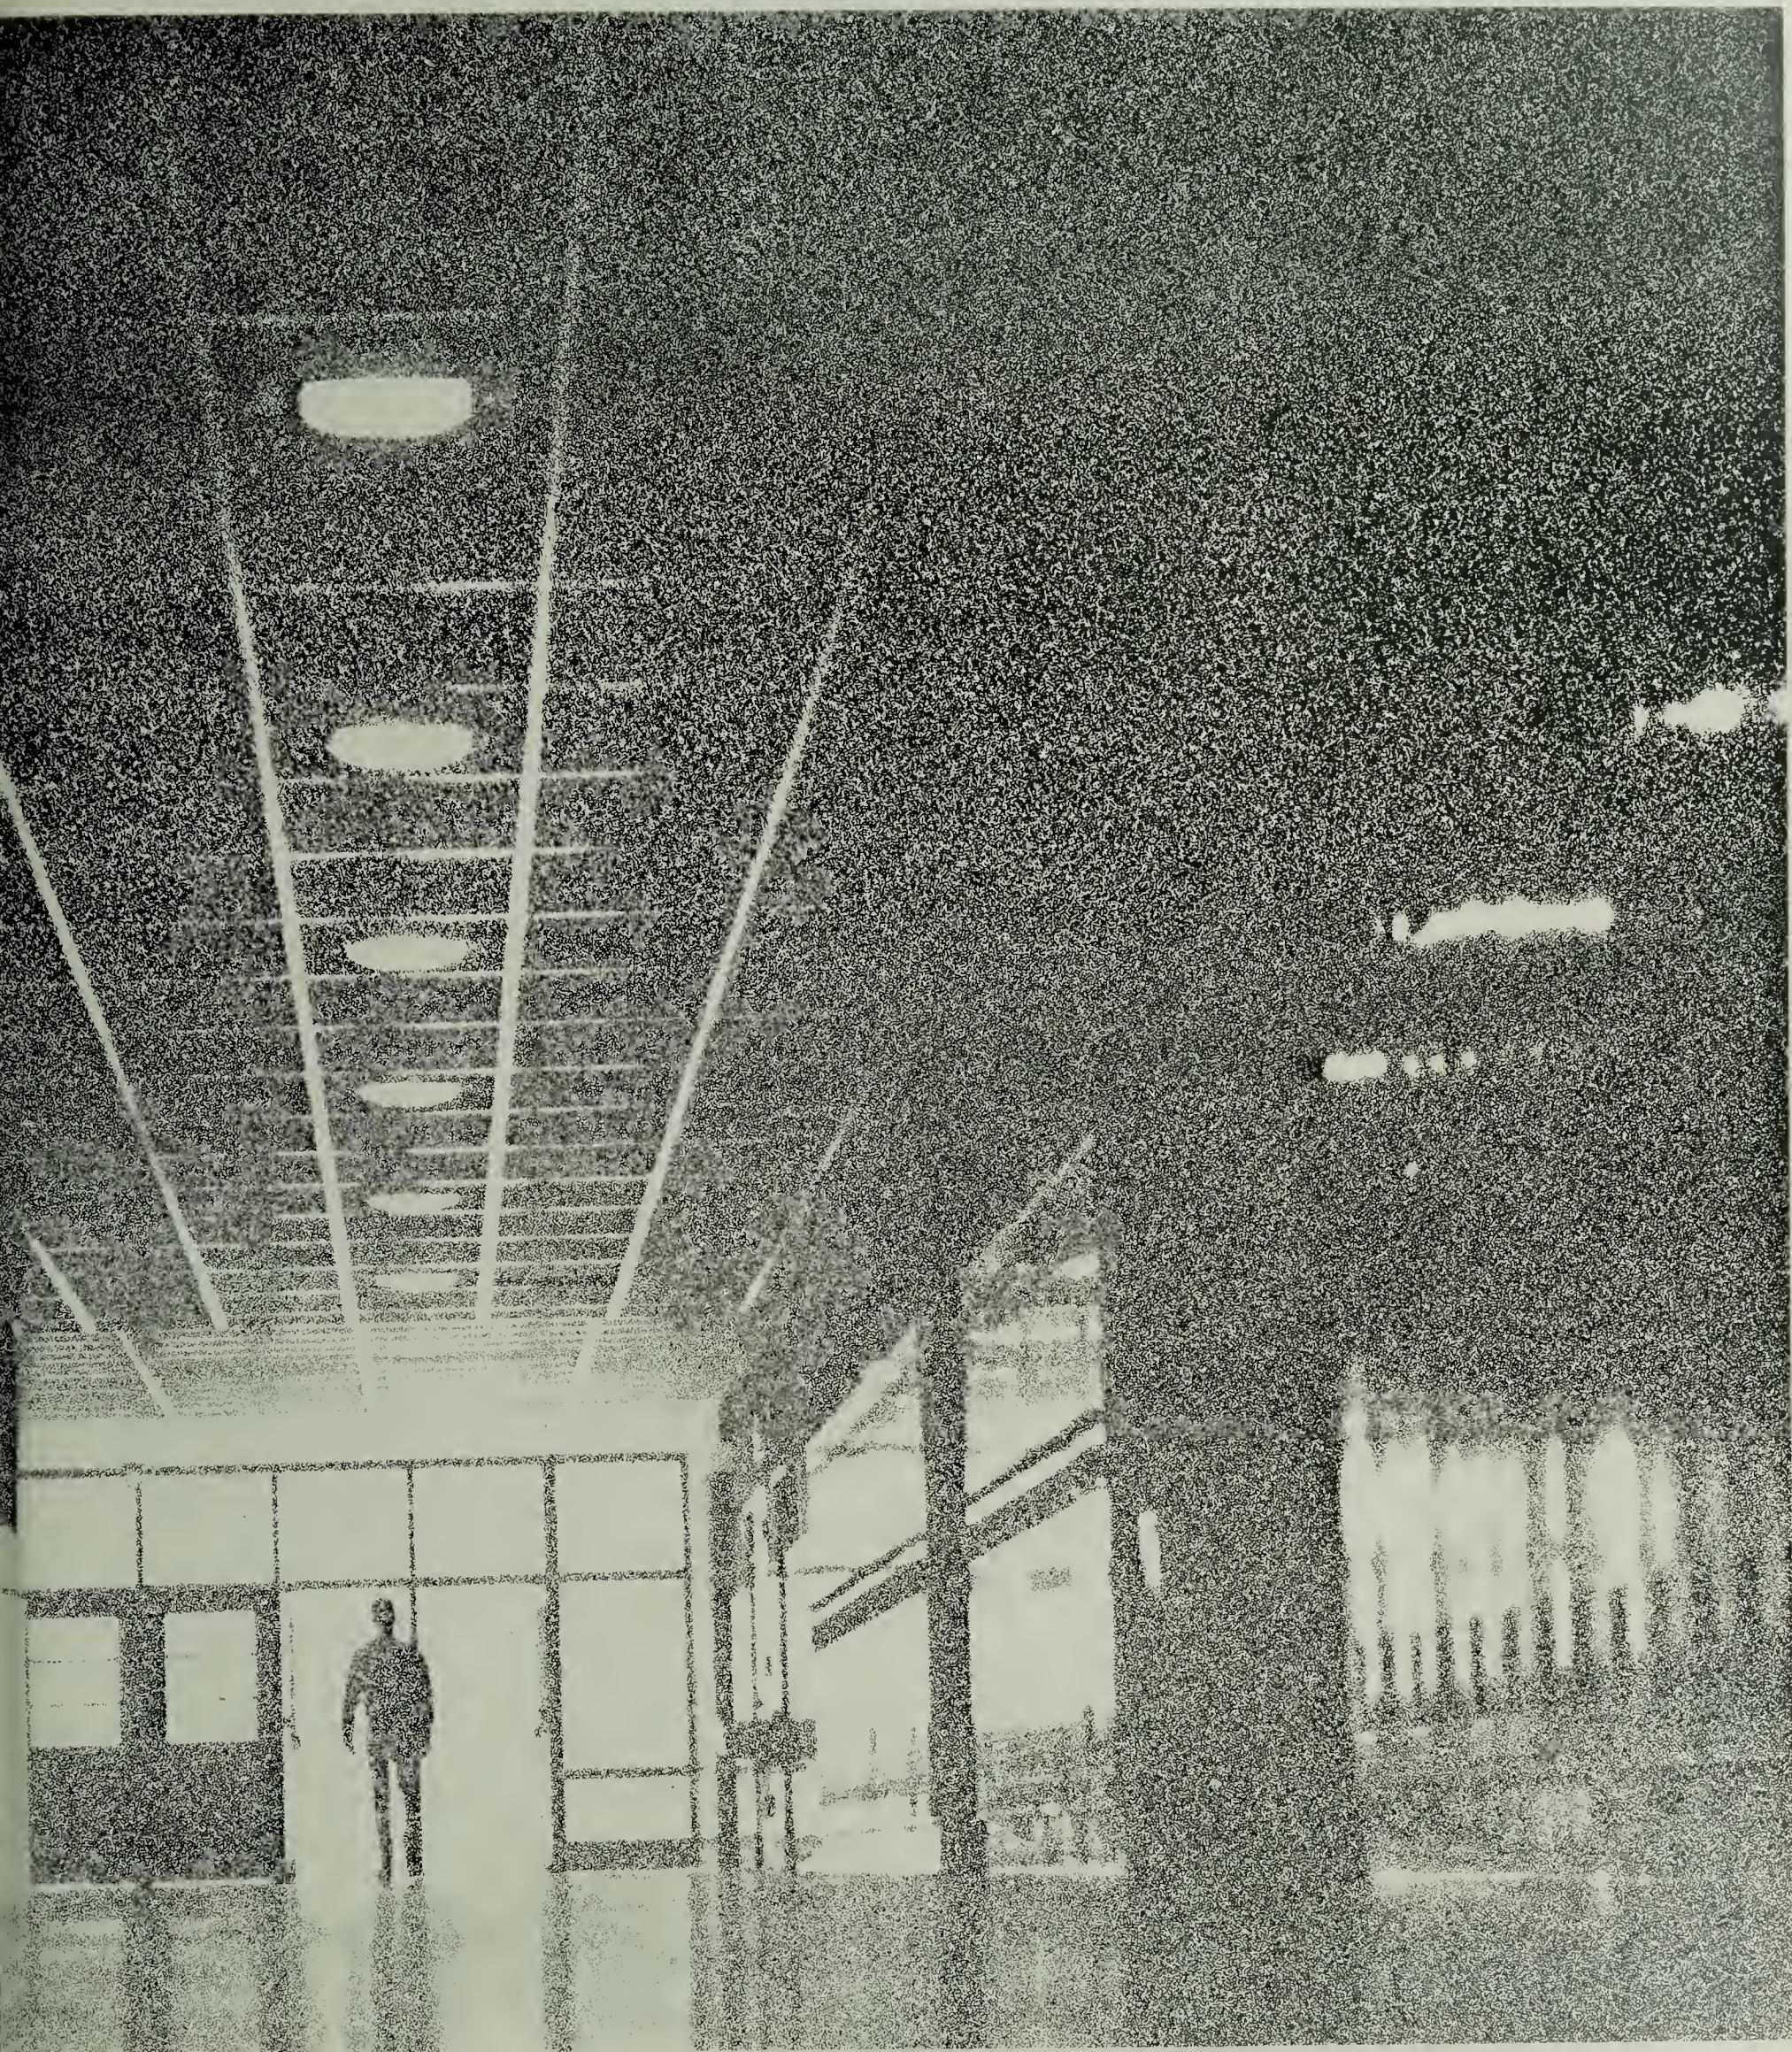

What is the maze?
perplexing paths patterned for learning continuation of a search for a future looking for direction and answers:
who we are
where we are going finding the solution concealed by confusing turns indecision uncertainty: which turn to take knowing what is definite and clear knowing bright hopes are around the corner
knowing we are part of the game:
students, pieces of the puzzle
It's our world.

CLASSES

The famous Senior Boys' Bake Sale is underway!

S.C.A. president Steve Thompson examines a weekly issue of HAVOC.

SENIORS

Suddenly, the seniors faced the cross-roads of being. Four years ago, it all seemed so remote, so far off. Who would have thought this year would eventually come? Four years of conflicting emotions amid term papers and memories finally resulted in eager anticipation for the future.

Seniors bubbling with spirit led the other classes and set an example well worth following. The first project on the agenda was sponsoring the Sadie Hawkins Dance. The Powder Puff Game, followed by the Jr.-Sr. Basketball Game, sale of Class Cards, a Boys' Bake Sale, and a Surf Dance rounded out a year of exciting activities.

First semester grades are all important at college, so a more studious group could not be found anywhere. But the first day of the second semester a strange epidemic known as "Senioritis" raged throughout the Senior Class.

Then June came with Baccalaureate, Class Night, the Senior Prom held at the Madison Hotel, and finally diplomas. The former seniors were now freshmen in college and the business world.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

MATS ANDERSSON

My being here has much to do with the fact that I am kind of an idealist. I am here on an A.F.S. scholarship which works for better international relations among the United States and other countries. In attempting to find out what Americans are like I have noticed they are not really much different from the Swedish people. I like the school spirit and football games because in Sweden school is strictly academic. After returning to Sweden I plan to study medicine at the University of Gothenburg for seven years.

LORICE INGER

This year at Jefferson, I am taking Analysis, C.O.P., Economics-Sociology, and A.D.P. Additionally I am undertaking a correspondence course from Australia to prepare me for my return in June 1967. I returned to Jefferson after graduation to continue my secondary education until I am able to take the University qualifying examination in Australia.

As the school year there starts in February and continues until mid-December, a mid-year return will mean a concentrated four months examination period for me if I am to succeed in matriculating to Australian standards by December 1967. Once having matriculated I shall be eligible to go to the National Capitol University in Canberra and eventually become a school teacher.

Finally, I might add I have thoroughly enjoyed my time in America which will amount to two and a half years by March.

IARA LANES

I am an exchange student from International Christian Youth Exchange. I came to the United States while former Colonial Becky White is completing the exchange and experiencing similar changes in Brazil. I am very glad to study at Jefferson because I like the people. I have found there is very little difference between the American and Brazilian teenagers in relation with our ideals. Both of us want to make a better world with freedom and peace as a basis.

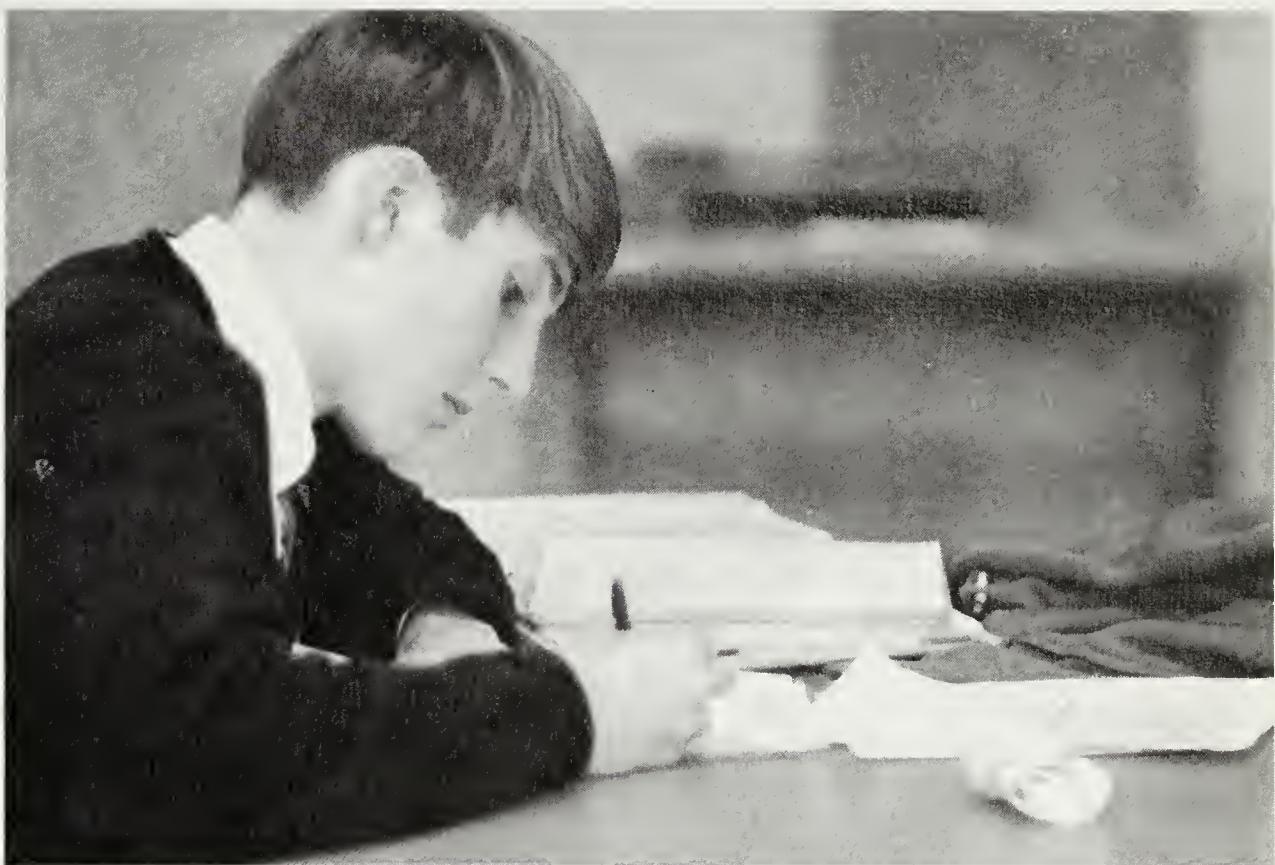

I love football and snow, two things that we do not have in Brazil. When I go back to my country I will go to Agronomy College for five years. Then I wish to come back to the United States to visit my American family and all the people I love.

TAREQ SULTAN

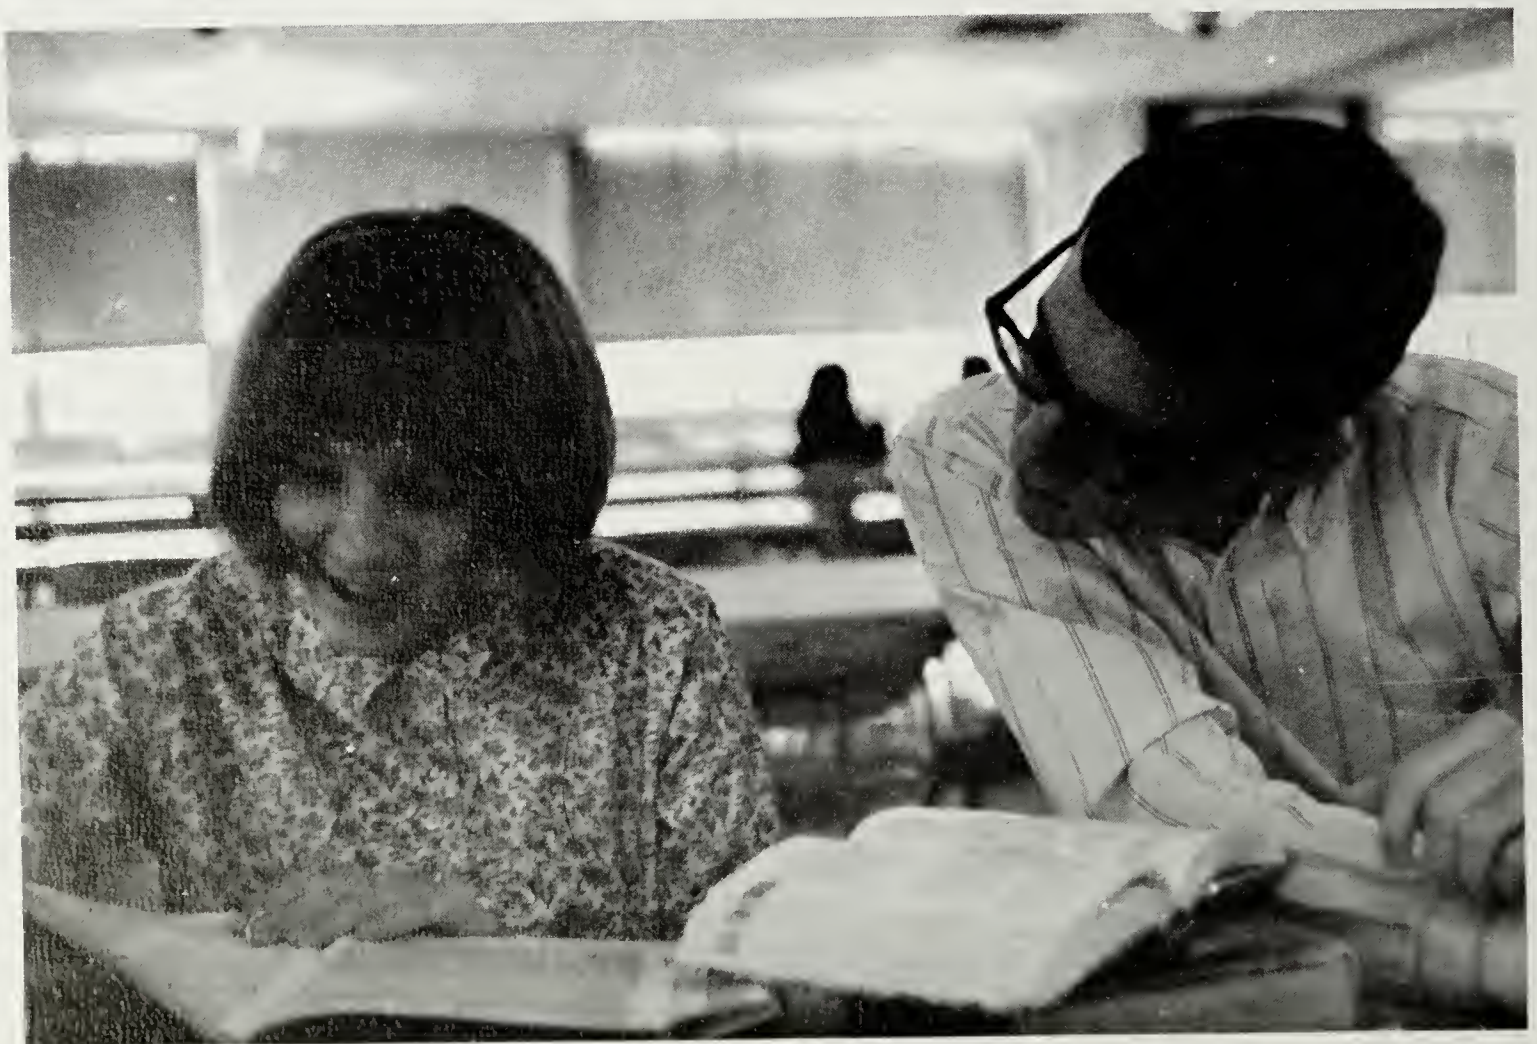

I was sent here by my government to prepare myself for college and improve my English. I am planning to study Engineering next year. School days in the United States are very long. In my country they close at 1:15! But I do enjoy the two-day weekends because Friday is the week-end in Kuwait. I like the method of teaching and book designs and admire the co-operation between the family and the school. The very active clubs seem to contribute a lot to your school system.

JUNIORS

Juniors is a word that means much to those who have achieved its status. At last they have become upperclassmen, traveling down the pathways of academics and fun-filled excitement. Although they still followed the senior example, the freshmen and sophomores looked toward them for leadership.

The senior challenge of the Powder-Puff and Junior-Senior Basketball Games was accepted with undaunted courage. On the serious side, this was the time to begin forming ideas about the future and taking college boards. After working hard, the juniors won honorable mention in the Homecoming Float Contest. Then as spring approached so came the peak of every junior's dream when the class rings arrived. Various bakesales and projects added to the class treasury and proved beneficial to the Junior Prom. The feeling of accomplishment and pride that comes with the realization that their members are now football heroes and school leaders is all a part of being a junior.

SOPHOMORES

After struggling through two years of being the "freshman" class, the Class of '69 finally achieved sophomore status. With the basketball tournaments of the STEP and SCAT testing week behind them, the sophomores looked forward to a new year of achievements and experiences. In early November, the sophomores demonstrated their skills by capturing the first-place title in the Homecoming Float Contest with their famous green dragon.

Keeping the sophomores well informed, their president, Jerry Beninate, circulated a class newspaper every two weeks. February saw the spirited sophomores sponsoring a dance and June found the emerging juniors.

With enthusiasm and an abundance of school spirit, freshmen entered Jefferson eager to face the challenge of their high school careers. This class, a union from several intermediate schools, was the first in the history of Jefferson to enter as an incoming freshman class.

With STEP and SCAT tests behind them, the election of class officers was held early in the fall. Then an athletic team and cheerleaders were chosen, the perfect ingredients for a successful Spirit Week. A triumph in the Magazine Drive entitled the freshmen to a taste of senior privileges, free shoeshines, and a class party. In hopes of entering the hop after the first basketball game, many freshmen purchased class cards. With such a good beginning and anticipation of future achievements, the freshman class listened and learned. Now it is their turn to become leaders.

Always remember me
'cause I'll always remember you! You're my oldest and bestest friend (doesn't that sound familiar?) and I hope that we'll ALWAYS and always stay that way! You're a GREAT plus friend and you have a Great personality!
You're just a great ALL around!!
Best wishes ALWAYS!
Luv,
Sallie

ORGANIZATIONS

Homeroom representatives in the House suggest and promote activities dealing with the progress and welfare of Thomas Jefferson High School.

Supervising the House meetings is just another one of the many duties Miss Wilson performs as sponsor of the S.C.A.

Cabinet members originated plans for the Homecoming Dance, a traffic safety campaign, administering national drivers' tests, and a club fair.

"The S.C.A.'s magazine drive exceeded the goal by nearly $2000," proudly recounts Steve Thompson, president of the S.C.A., during the morning announcements.

Sandy Attinello, as Vice-President of the S.C.A., assumes the office of President of the Senate.

Terry Flynn receives congratulations from his family following induction ceremonies.

The flame, symbol of knowledge, can mean nothing buried in the treasure house of books. Just as the flame is lit for the Honor Society Members, they kindle knowledge for others through their tutoring service.

As her torch is lit, Linda Wray is reminded of her duty to maintain and generate high standards of Character, Scholarship, Leadership and Service.

On the application blank she stated "active participation in a club such as this would give me a feeling of self-satisfaction and inner pride." This is exactly what it did when the Keyettes entertained children at Thanksgiving in connection with Project Head Start. Another service the Keyettes performed for the school was washing the library's tables.

Keyettes worked hard and unselfishly, as usual, to make the Sweetheart Dance a success.

Town Crier

Vol. III. No. 2

THOMAS JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

October 31, 1966

Editor of School Newspaper Wins Oratorical Contest

Charles Pitner, a senior at T. J. and editor of the "Town Crier" recently competed in the "National Oratorical Contest." The contest, sponsored by the American Legion, dealt on a phase of the constitution.

Charlie's eight minute speech, entitled "Upholding the Principles of the Constitution in the World Today," was judged by various officials on three levels. Competing in the school level won Charlie first place and a $25 savings bond. In the Fairfax County level, he competed against speakers from Woodson, Annandale, Groveton, Stuart, and Lee, winning another $25 bond. In the District level, he competed against students from Fairfax, Yorktown, and St. Mary's.

The finals will be held at Lincoln, Nebraska. The winner will be awarded a $4000 scholarship. Aside from the regular speech, a five minute extemporaneous talk is also required, about the constitution.

When asked about his views on the contest, Charlie replied, "Winning or losing wasn't as important as the experience I gained.

The only bad aspect of the contest was the scarcity of participating students. More participation is needed to make the contest more competitive and worthwhile."

The "Town Crier" staff was so versatile and efficient it found time to sponsor a talent show and publish a student directory.

I live in a world where wisdom is king in a village where beauty is strangled in a people of hollow and stonelike men who forgot how to sing and smile and love is an ugly and needed urge to save the future of wisdom

The sun as she loosens her golden hair is weaker than ice hearts around me

My heart bears in its deep a question
 a thought that aches to come out

Tell me oh Eve you mother of men
 what reason you had for your thoughtlessness when you bit so deep in your apple

untitled and unpunctuated

TWILIGHT

Man has reached his highwater
 And stands watching the ebbing tide
 Feeling the numb oblivion of time.
 What a legacy to pass on the yet unborn
 Of a race once glorious, now dying.
 The cities crumble, learning is forsaken
 A hundred centuries are gone for naught
 — the sun is setting.

NIGHT

Darkness has overwhelmed the light;
 No vestige of ancient glory yet remains.
 The mists have covered all the world
 With barbarous war, pestilence, famine, death.
 The masses cry out in their agony
 And burn books for light and warmth.
 There is no chance for a new dawning
 — the sun has already set.

In the fall and spring issues of the "Jefferson Jottings" the staff published outstanding short stories, prose, poetry and art work, all contributed by the student body.

THE JEFFERSONIAN

spending long nights after school, Christmas vacation, snow days, and weekends to meet deadlines being an observer rather than a student to record school life combining ingredients of short tempers, McDonald's hamburgers, Mary's ideas, homework, layout sheets, copy carbons, contact prints discussing possibilities in the little room with Mr. Brown.
 gathering ideas, opinions, variations making decisions, accepting responsibilities learning to be patient, creative, to deal with people . . .
 we finally published a yearbook.

Even a 90 page deadline the next day didn't damage the spirit of our editors.

"My 35 mm. camera is great. It's just that the negatives are too grainy."

Donated anonymously, Snoopy was declared an honorary staff member.

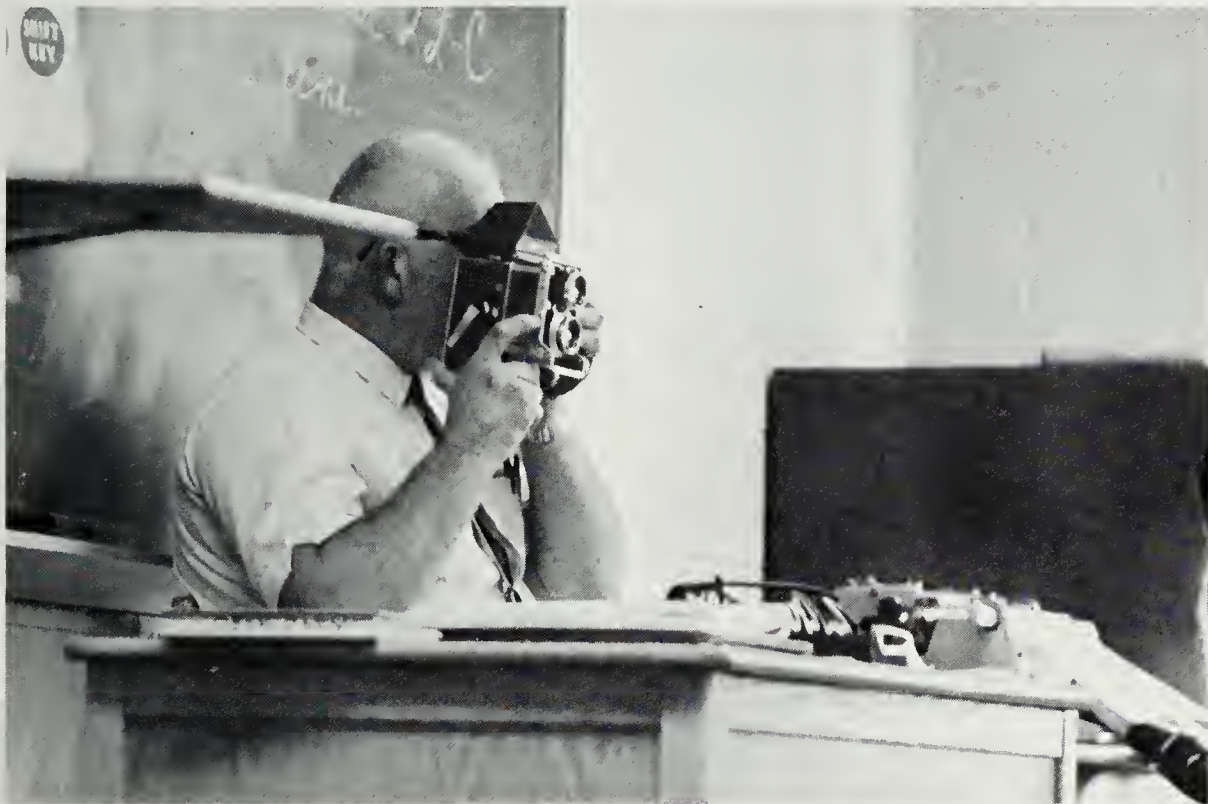

"If you bleed the pic. into the gutter we'll have another page ready."

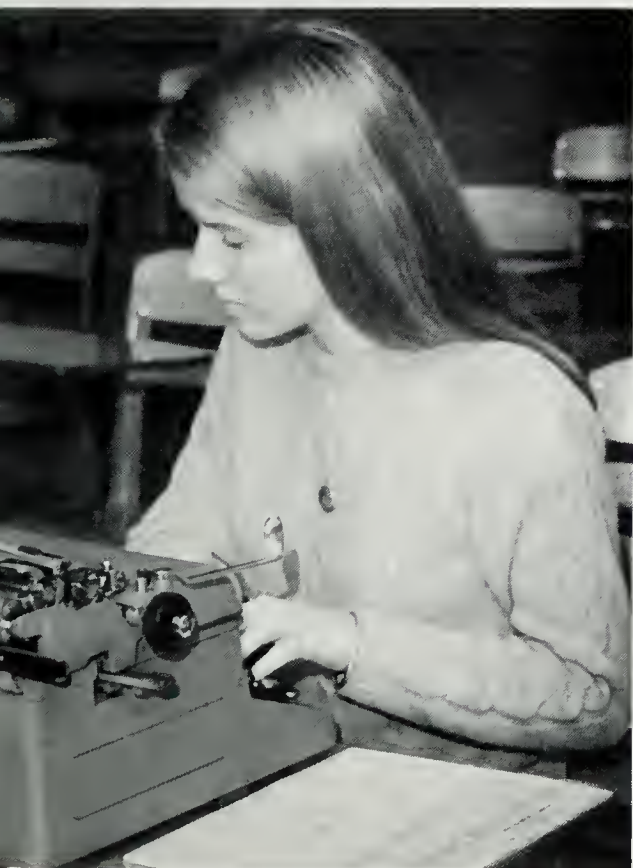

When duty calls, our photographers would do anything for an interesting picture.

Col. Charles E. Brown, advisor, photographer, co-ordinator, humorist, friend, he never hesitates in giving his time, understanding, or assistance.

The very distinguished photographer, Charles R. Ryan, Esquire.

Quarterback Bob "Rat" Fisher sneaks in for a touchdown against Annandale, 1965 State Champions. Jefferson almost pulled off the biggest upset of the year but lost 13-7.

The 1966 season marked an important "first" for Jefferson's Varsity Football Squad. The Colonials defeated Edison for their first Virginia 1-A League competition victory. Jefferson was the first to light the scoreboard with six points in the first period. Edison tied the score with a recovered fumble. Then in the fourth quarter Boyd Flynt turned the tables on the Eagles, picked up an Edison fumble, and ran the 34 yards for winning touchdown.

Although the rest of the season proved somewhat disappointing for the Colonial fans statistically, the team provided them with many thrills and excitement. Just to prove it, one of the exciting games, surprisingly enough, was a defeat. The Atoms, the 1965 State Champions, met our boys on their own field expecting a pushover but they were rudely awakened. The undefeated Annandale team, was only able to emerge victorious after a closely matched fight. The underdogs walked off the field defeated score-wise but fully aware that they had played their hearts out and had scared the Atoms.

The fatigue from a gruelling summer practice is reflected in the faces of Fred Payne, Tim Tyler, and Bob Kirkhorn.

Displaying the ability which earned him the Highest Scorer Award, Don Ruch charges toward the goal posts.

This season was more than just who defeated whom and when. The boys on the field knew that it was not the best season. But through laughs, hard work, and sometimes heartaches they had built a team and that's what counts.

At the end of the season, the coaches selected nine outstanding boys whose achievements had earned for them these awards: Best Offensive Lineman, Mike Hayden; Best Defensive Back, Don Ruch; Best Defensive Lineman, Tim Tyler; Best Defensive Back, Butch Beasley; Outstanding Players, Bob Fisher, Cody Perry, Boyd Flynt, Danny Staley; Best All-Around, Jim Metz, Boyd Flynt and Highest Scorer, Don Ruch.

Gang tackling by an enthused Colonial team

The Junior Varsity team started the season on a high note by defeating Lee and Falls Church. These were the only victories of the season, though, as the Colonials tied the next game with Mt. Vernon and lost the remainder of the schedule.

The opening games pointed to a promising season, but things rapidly changed to disappointment for the team. Playing some of the strongest J.V. teams in the area, the Colonials were hampered by costly injuries. The team's leading scorer was halfback Joe Dye who scored 18 points and Jerry Beninate's performance as quarterback was especially valuable. Teamwork and determination were the strongest points of the team. At the end of the season several Junior Varsity players were moved up to the Varsity—a tribute to them and their coach and a promise of a good team next year.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The Little Colonials gained valuable experience in their first year of high school football. Hampered by the lack of a line coach, the freshman team found the going a little rough. The first two games of the season ended in disaster as the Colonials were thoroughly beaten by both Fairfax and Falls Church. Against Annandale Mike Hobaugh scored the first touchdown of the season but the Colonial defense could not hold the Atoms. In the next game a strengthened defense held West Springfield to seven points, but Jefferson failed to score. The highlight of the season came when Jefferson won their first game in district competition against Woodson 12-8. The two scores were made by Wescott and Munnikhuysen. The season ended on a sad note though, when they lost to Madison.

Looking at the record the season does not appear to be successful, but Coach Hart gave each boy a chance to play, thus giving them valuable game experience. With a little more work these boys can be made into a fine Junior Varsity team.

By the end of the season number 12, Terry Corcoran, had become a familiar sight to Colonial rooters. At the season's close Terry had participated in all the varsity basketball games ever played by Jefferson.

Although the Varsity Basketball record of 4 wins and 14 losses would indicate a frustrating year, the spectators would agree that the 11 junior and 4 senior boys played thrilling and impressive games. Coach Wickline stressed that, "Our greatest obstacle is size." Almost every team towered over the Colonials by 2 to 3 inches per player. Jefferson was usually ahead up through the third quarter. Then in the fateful last 4 minutes the other teams took the lead.

Jefferson's season began when the Colonials lost to Edison. The Eagles were ahead at half time, but the Colonials came back and out-scored them by 13 points in the second half. The next 2 games against Mt. Vernon and Ft. Hunt had to go into overtime before the Colonials were defeated.

Then the Colonials were faced with T. C. Williams. Mike Mileur's finger was broken during the game and his skill was missed in the next eight games. In both games against Woodson, it was a point for point battle until the closing minutes when the Cavaliers gained the lead.

The first victory was in a non-district bout with McLean. Mike Clark set the pace with 25 points and led them to a 75-53 win over the Highlanders. The clash with Annandale proved more costly than just losing the game. Four of our key players were injured in play.

The next game was one of three major upsets of the season. Stuart entered with all the advantages of height and no injuries. Jefferson started with 10 players and then lost Mike Mileur with a sprained ankle. Rick Weinstein and Jim Slinkman fouled out and with 27 seconds left the Raiders were ahead. Then with 3 seconds remaining Steve Greenstreet got the ball and made the winning basket as the buzzer rang. Jefferson claimed its first district game when they defeated Falls Church in an impressive manner. The next upset was the last game against Madison with an overtime win.

The Northern District Tournament started with Jefferson playing Annandale in the first round. The Colonials took an upset victory over the Atoms. The excellent performances by Terry Corcoran, Tom Andrews, and Rick Weinstein led Jefferson in scoring while the rebounding of Steve Greenstreet, Mike Clark, and Bryon Cook helped stop the Atoms. Then came the game with the number one team, Fairfax. T. J. stayed ahead throughout most of the game, giving Fairfax a scare. In the fourth quarter Fairfax had to fight to finally pull out a hard-earned victory.

Coach Wickline's many compliments were well deserved for the team's improvement during the season was remarkable. All but 4 of the boys will return for next year's team. The seniors, Jim Slinkman, Pete Mirc, Rick Weinstein, and especially Terry Corcoran, who holds most of the school's basketball records, will be greatly missed next year. With last year's championship J.V. team taking over varsity position, there is no doubt we will have a successful team in 1967-1968.

Coach Hulen's J.V. team started off slowly when they won only one of the first three games. Then their eleven wins with only one defeat in the middle of the season more than made up for the beginning. They ended the season with a successful record of thirteen wins and five losses, and holding the District second place only a half game behind Woodson.

The little Colonials won their first game when they defeated Mt. Vernon by eleven points. Their first district victory was over Falls Church when they beat the Jaguars by a score of 47-43. Their most impressive victory was over the Fairfax Rebels. They broke several school records, including the most points scored in one game, when they defeated Fairfax by a score of 68-40.

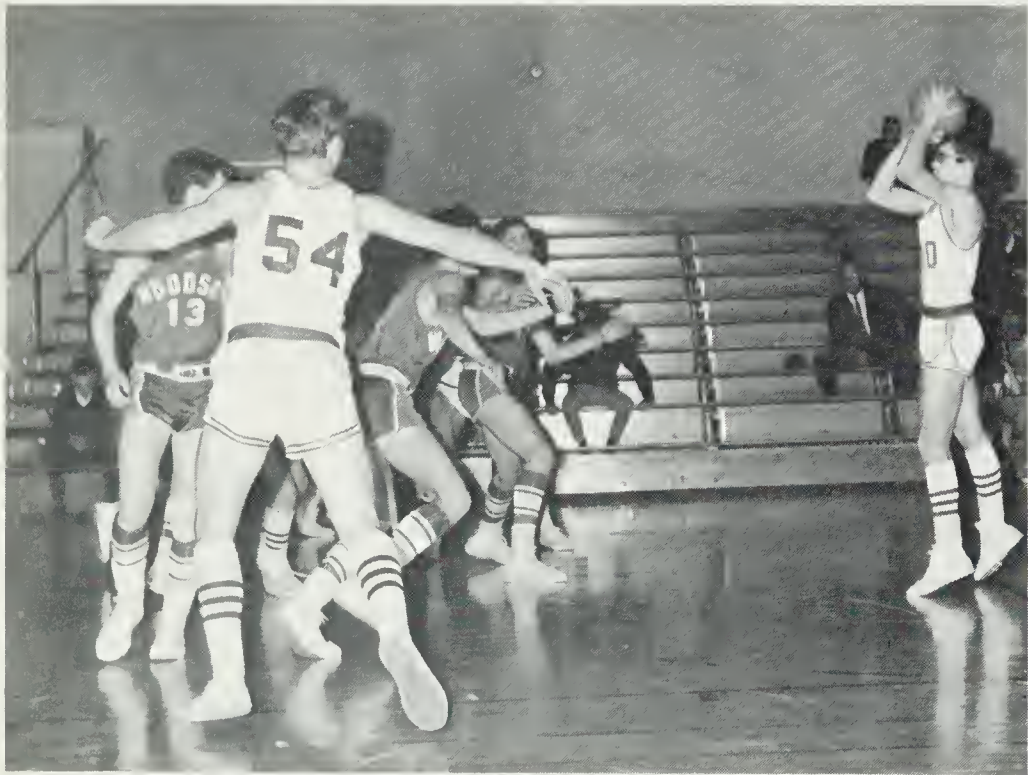

The J.V. team played many exciting games, several where the last minute made the difference, but not in all of them because the little Colonials defeated six of their opponents by a score of 15 points or more. Butch Beasley led the team in scoring while the team was led on defense by Bob Hedlund.

Plenty of experience and skill proved this year's junior varsity and promised a strong varsity next year.

The boys on the freshman basketball team started out their careers as "Round Ballers" on a pretty good note with four wins and six losses.

The opening game of the season was a real battle with Madison. Jeff Hunt's foul shot with only 43 seconds remaining in the last quarter gave the Colonials the victory. They dropped the next few games, but had a comeback in mid-season with victories over West Springfield, Annandale, and Fairfax. This gave them three district wins in succession.

Chris Westcott and Doug Lowrey led the team in offensive work. Excelling on defense, Wayne Wheeler was promoted to the J.V. team. Coach Harte prepared the Freshman boys this year to take over the J.V. team next year.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

A jump shot by Chris Westcott began another four years of rivalry against Woodson for a new Colonial team.

Hoping for a quick reversal, Steve Hays is set to wrestle.

"Lack of depth was the main problem of this year's wrestling team," opined Coach Rihn. The more experienced wrestlers in the area took advantage of our fairly new team and at the end of the season Jefferson ranked only above Langley. However, the Colonials displayed more stamina and desire than most of the teams that defeated them.

In spite of the overall team record, individuals on the team succeeded admirably. Charles Harvith, Cliff Kevill, Pat Cassidy, and Bruce Smarr, all outstanding wrestlers, will return with their experience for next year's team. Tim Tyler, the unlimited powerhouse, went undefeated with only one point scored against him the entire season. John Reidelbach, a latecomer to this year's team, ended his season with a team record of pinning his man in 34 seconds. (Tim Tyler's old record was 36 seconds.) We are especially proud of Charles Harvith (95 pound weight class) and John Reidelbach (165 pound weight class) who both placed fourth in the Northern Virginia Meet. Tim Tyler's District Championship in the unlimited weight class sent him on to the regional and state matches.

Barbara Mills really doesn't sit on the bench for the whole game.

They say you don't have to be crazy to drive a car past the Pentagon but it helps. Something like that strikes an observer watching those healthy, happy, presumably normal girls out there whacking away at a hard rubber ball with deadly-looking hockey sticks — and seeming to flail away at each other in the bargain. It looks rough, but it must be fun, too, the way they go at it.

Seriously, this year, in spite of all hazards, Jefferson's hockey teams did an excellent job. They both lost only two games out of the eight they played. The varsity team coached by Mrs. Cockerham had a difficult beginning when they tied with Marshall, then lost the next two games, but made up for it with the rest of the season. They came out with an over-all record of 2-2-4. Chris McAllan and Randy Lusby were the high scorers on the team and Kate Carter did exceptionally well on defense. Chris Bonham was high scorer on the J.V. team which was coached by Miss Stacks during a winning season of 5-2-1.

The 1967 girls varsity basketball team excelled and completed the season with nine wins and three losses. Nancy Boice led the team score-wise and averaged seventeen points per game. Sue Tracy earned an exceptional record as high rebounder and second highest scorer. Judy Stoke's proficiency was another valuable asset on both offense and defense. The team set a new school record by scoring 59 points in their game against the Annandale Atoms and ended the season with an average of 43 points per game. After such a successful season, resulting from good teamwork, Miss Carolyn Morrison commented, "I have never seen fourteen girls get along so well and do such an excellent job together."

The J.V. girls' basketball team was highly successful also. Jeanne Palmer was recognized as high scorer in a victorious season of eight wins and four losses. Sandy Wilkie and Denise King excelled defensively. The J.V. demonstrated increased knowledge of strategy and tremendous improvement with each game. Mrs. Cockerham did an excellent job of coaching these girls and preparing for next year's varsity team.

Jefferson celebrated its first Homecoming November 5, 1966, centralizing its activities around the theme, Saturnalia. The weeks preceding this memorable event were busy ones, as students built floats patterned around the Roman Festival. The celebration started with a football game against Groveton. Halftime brought the unveiling of the floats, the award of first place going to the Sophomore Class. The crowning of the King and Queen, John Reidelbach and Joyce Clark, attended by their court was the climax to the halftime ceremonies but not to the Homecoming celebrations. The following evening the first Homecoming Dance proved a fitting end to Jefferson's first Homecoming.

SADIE HAWKINS

The magic of Sadie Hawkins came alive for the third time in Jefferson history on the evening of November 12, 1966. Sponsored by the Senior Class, the dance was a great success. Everybody came costumed as Dogpatch characters and not many bachelors escaped the grasp of Marryin' Sam (alias Tim Tyler). The other honors were done by Cindy Derr as Daisy Mae, Lee Atkinson as Lil' Abner, Linda Jo Hammer as Mammy Yokum, and Mike McKean as Pappy Yokum. CHRISTMAS AND SWEETHEART DANCES

'Twas the eve of Christmas Eve when the third annual Christmas Dance was presented by the Key Club. The snow which fell during the dance created the perfect Christmas spirit. Parachutes and colored lights decorated the ceiling of the cafeteria, producing a pleasant change from its usual appearance.

The dance was highlighted with the terrific sound of the Embers, and the crowning of the Queen — Emily Watts, attended by Cindy Derr, Maid-of-Honor. The representatives from each class were: Julie Dakin and Sherry Allbright, seniors; Bobbe Pilk and Pennie Pillet, juniors; Leslie Wood and Debbie McDaniel, sophomores; Cindy King and Monta Lee Dakin, freshmen.

Jean Wilkerson, Senior Representative, and Mike McKean; John Heatwole and Cindy Derr, Sweetheart Queen; Marcy Call, Senior Representative, and Jeff Hyland; Terry Corcoran and Michele Horner, Maid-of-Honor.

Even when handicapped by the sleet and snow the Keyettes managed to create one of the loveliest semi-formal dances of the year. Couples may not have worn their hearts on their sleeves, but they were literally everywhere else. As the Young Bloods drowned out conversations and the gurgle of the punch fountain, couples claimed their coats and confiscated paper flowers for souvenirs of a memorable evening.

Cindy Derr reigned as Sweetheart Queen, with Michele Horner as her Maid-of-Honor. The other members of the court were Marcy Call and Jean Wilkerson, seniors; Ginni Pace and Donna Wells, juniors; Pat Erickson and Carol Cooper, sophomores; Patti Matteson and Linda Matthews, freshmen.

Dear Cyd -

What a thrill to be the 1st to scribble good wishes in this lovely volume! Well, can I say that I have truly loved every minute being with you - a remarkably insane personage? You bet
I can! I must say there have been times when I got a little (or bunches) upset with you but you knew me - Old Smokey the Volcano herself! Anyway, I'm looking forward to more fun'n'games with one of my dearest buddies & a truly

Their hand was needed, wanted
It was outstretched
And we grasped it
Willingly
Thankfully Humbly
We are indebted to them for their assistance.

Can't tell ya!
it's what a great year
I've been wif ya! It sure was grate when ya made Keyettes. You'll make a good one. Be good o'er the summer & we'll have fun.
Best of Luck or
lots of Ruck
